

Audiovisual transcription - Teachers' Development:

Seller: Here's your onion.

Buyer: Have you noticed all the effort the teacher puts into teaching our kids?

Man: Sure I have.

Seller: Yes, he's even taken baby chickens and rabbits to school to teach our kids how to count.

Man: And if he could continue his studies, imagine all the things he could teach them.

Teachers' professional development is quality education.

We need more and better government and municipal investment with the support of Congress. If your candidate does not support education, change candidate.

Guatemala, I want you happy.
